WOMAN'S TRILBIES ARE GROWING LARGER; HORRORS

The tailors and shoe dealers of London have accumulated some interesting statistics on the change in the figures of men and women, says the Boston Globe.

According to the tailors, there are two new types of men; that is, as regards their figures. One is the man who plays a great deal of golf or indulges largely in other forms of outdoor sports; this man is growing taller and slimmer.

On the other hand, the man who has given up walking and horseback riding for the motor car is becoming progressively fat; during the last two years there has been such a waist development that the makers of ready-made clothing have been forced to add an extra half-inch to the waists of trousers. For the athletic type of man the average chest measurement is 38 inches, with waist of 34, while the motor man, though shorter, demands a 36-inch waist.

As for the ladies, it is a delicate subject, but the dealers feel the truth must prevail, and they reluctantly admit that their customers' feet are much larger than they used to be. Two years ago the average was No. 4 and No. 2 was kept in stock; this latter size has now been given up and No. 8 has appeared, while the average has increased to No. 5. If this has been accomplished in two years, who can guess the changes to come?

MAY REFORM PRESENT MONEY ORDER SYSTEM

Washington, Sept. 17.—Postmaster General Hitchcock has appointed a special committee to investigate the money order system and recommend such changes as will reduce the expenses without a loss in efficiency.

The special committee is considering the advisability of dispensing with mail advices to the postmaster after the money order is issued. It is estimated that it cost the department more than $500,000 a year to use the advices. More than 64,000,000 were used last year, and it is expected that the number will reach 67,000,000 this year.

Methods for expediting the issuance of money orders also are being considered, and the wisdom of reviving the postal note abolished by an act of congress in 1894 also will receive attention.

A simplification of the delivery of registered mail has been recommended to Postmaster General Hitchcock by the committee of registry experts appointed by him to suggest improvements in the service. The committee has recommended that delivery be made to any responsible adult at the place of address except in cases where the sender indicates on the envelope his desire to have a personal delivery made.

Sins of omission are more plentiful than sins of commission, because they involve less effort.

FORTUNE MAY BE BURIED ON RANCH OF FORMER VEGAN

FRED A. EDWARDS, NOW LIVING IN ARIZONA, LIKELY MILLIONAIRE SOME DAY

GOLD HIDDEN BY JESUITS

Eight Mule Teams of Precious Metal, Hastily Secreted When the Indians Forced the Padres to Flee For Their Lives, Has Never Been Found

Las Vegas people who remember Fred A. Edwards, a former resident of this city when he was foreman of the book bindery of the Optic Publishing company, more recently reported to have killed himself at Bisbee, Arizona, and whose wife and their three children visited friends in this city a few months ago, will be interested to learn that Edwards is not only alive and well, but in a fair way to be a millionaire, if all reports are to be believed.

The Tucson (Ariz.) Citizen of recent date has the following to say concerning Edwards and his probable fortune:

"Owner of 200 acres of land on which may be buried eighty mule loads of gold, estimated by some to be worth as much as $80,000,000, F. A. Edwards has taken up his residence in Phoenix.

"For 300 years searchers have sought in vain to locate the treasure, and several times rumors have been circulated that part of the treasure was found, only to prove canards started by some person to create an excitement.

"Though in Madrid and Mexico City there are records which tell of the treasure and give directions as to how it can be found, dozens of searchers have followed these directions, only to result in failure.

"Edwards states that about 300 years ago the Indians drove the Jesuit priests from the Tumacacori mission, near where the padres had located and worked three rich gold mines. From these they took fabulous sums of gold.

"When the padres fled, they were forced to hide their wealth and according to the records they are alleged to have left, it was located by a black rock two miles from the mission building. To these directions there is believed to be a mysterious key, which has never been discovered.

"Edwards says that one of the three gold mines supposed to have been worked by the Jesuits has been found in the Sierra Colorado mountains in Pima county. No trace of the other two, which are supposed to be the richest, has ever been found.

"About three times a year treasure hunters suddenly discover that they have the key to the situation and dig up part of the country. This has continued until holes are to be found all over the district.

"One of the old Mexicans at Tamacacori declares that a few years ago searchers dug into the walls of the old mission, and there found several golden oranges. Digging into and under the mission building has almost caused it to fall.

"Edwards' 200 acres lies adjacent to the ground on which the mission stands. At one place on this land there is an old smelter that was used by the padres. Edwards believes that the treasure lies buried in ground where an orchard, owned by the Jesuits, stood 300 years ago, but none of the searchers have ever felt inclined to dig there."

A Hurry Up Call

Quick! Mr. Druggist—Quick!—A box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve—Here's a quarter—For the love of Moses, hurry! Its the greatest healer on earth. Sold by all druggists.

The reason a busy man works so much in the office evenings is so he can spend them all at the theater.

Testifies After Four Years

Carlisle Center, N. Y., G. B. Burhans writes: "About four years ago I wrote you that I had been entirely cured of kidney trouble by taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy, and after four years I am again pleased to state that I have never had any return of these symptoms, and I am evidently cured to stay cured." Foley's Kidney Remedy will do the same for you. O. G. Schaefer and Red Cross Drug Store.

A woman needs so much religion so to be able to pray hopefully for the men in the family.

CUPID Versus SOOT

Miss Evelyn Tomlins raised the shade and peered out into the night. The rain beat heavily against the window pane.

"Mother," she said, "don't you think it would be a good evening to put up the dining-room stove? Surely nobody'll be in such a night as this."

"It isn't likely," admitted Mrs. Tomlins. "Still you know Frank Thompson has been here on just such nights. You ought to be presentable. How you'd look with your nose all soot and a calico dress on!"

"Oh, I don't care what Frank Thompson thinks," said Miss Tomlins, contemptuously.

Miss Tomlins' mother had often said that Evelyn would make some man a good wife some day, she was such a hustler. She was not afraid of soiling her hands, and when it came to a little matter like moving a stove, she didn't stand around and wait for her father to hire men.

"What's the use of spending a dollar twice a year on so insignificant an undertaking?" she said. "It's the simplest thing in the world, if one only has a little common sense. Just see how easy it is!"

Miss Tomlins, using a ten-foot scantling as a lever, demonstrated how trifling a thing it is to move a stove.

While Miss Tomlins and her parents were thus engaged, John Grosvenor, an eligible young bachelor, who had apartments, was making ready for an event he had contemplated for a week. Mr. Grosvenor had been introduced to Miss Tomlins at a gathering of mutual friends.

"It's a beastly night," he told himself, "but what's the difference? She's pretty sure to be at home, and it'll be all the cosier. Besides, I'm not likely to find other fellows there."

Mr. Grosvenor spent ten minutes adjusting his tie.

"I wonder what sort of a girl she is at home?" he mused. "A fellow can't judge a woman fairly until he sees her under domestic conditions. In society Miss Tomlins is a stunner. On first acquaintance she certainly attracts."

Mr. Grosvenor called a cab.

"There's the doorbell!" exclaimed Mrs. Tomlins, in dismay. "Dear me! Evelyn, you're a perfect sight!"

Mrs. Tomlins looked at Miss Tomlins and Miss Tomlins looked at her mother. It was hard to tell which was the blacker. Mr. Tomlins at the moment was on the steepladder, posing a length of stovepipe.

"We won't go to the door!" Mrs. Tomlins decided.

"It might be a telegram, or something," said Miss Tomlins. "Anyway, I'm going to take chances."

Mr. Grosvenor and Miss Tomlins stood confronted. "Come in," said Miss Tomlins, covering her confusion in transparent bravado. "You're just in time to help put up the stove."

"Well," said Mrs. Tomlins, after the caller had departed, "that's the end of him. Evelyn, why will you be so contrary? You know I tried to get you to make yourself presentable to-night. Somehow you always manage to upset every desirable marriage prospect that comes along. Mr. Grosvenor is highly spoken of, and he's got money enough."

"Now, mother!" protested Evelyn, coloring under the grime. "You know I don't want to marry Mr. Grosvenor. I don't care how much money he's got, and I don't care what he thinks of me. So there!"

"Well," concluded Mrs. Tomlins, "even suppose you don't want to marry him! What'll he think of you for receiving him in the parlor in such clothes, with soot all over them, and you, too?"

Mr. Grosvenor sat by his lonely fireside that night until two o'clock.

"She's the sort of a girl a fellow ought to get," he mused. "I wonder if I could get her if I tried. Ten to one she's spoken for already. By George! she looked charming with that soot on her nose. I wonder how many girls would pitch in and help their fathers and mothers in that kind of style. Imagine Maud Farrington doing it! Soot on her nose! Never!"

Mr. Grosvenor laughed aloud.

"She's the girl I've been looking for," he added.

And that is why Evelyn is Mrs. Grosvenor now.

Elect Colored Woman President.

Mrs. Emma J. Wilson of Mayesville, S. C., a colored woman, has been elected president of a colored farmers' conference. This is an unusual honor for colored men to show a colored woman.

Mrs. Wilson started a school near Mayesville 27 years ago in a shed. It has now more than 500 pupils, a farm of 54 acres, four substantial buildings and 13 teachers. It is incorporated as the Mayesville Industrial Institute, and in addition to a common school education it teaches colored boys and girls nine trades, including the making of bricks. The boys of the school build their own trades' building with bricks of their own making. Colored farmers from all parts of the state go to Mayesville to study the advanced methods used on the school farm, and an effort is now being made to have the government to establish an experiment station there. In the normal department teachers, men and women, are trained to take charge of colored schools.

A FAMILY REGULATOR.

Reall Orderlies are unsurpassable for the use of children, old folks and delicate persons, as well as for robust people. We cannot too highly recommend them to all sufferers of constipation. We offer your money back if you are not satisfied. They are eaten like candy, and do not gripe, purge, or cause any annoyance whatever. Two sizes, 10c. and 25c.

JEALOUSY OVER WOMAN RESULTS IN A MURDER

Silver City, N. M., Sept. 17.—Details have just reached here of the killing of Manuel Galvan near Hachita on Wednesday, presumably by one Santos Ortiz. Jealousy over a woman with whom both Galvan and Ortiz were in love, is supposed to have caused the murder of the former. Ortiz and the woman in the case, were arrested soon after Galvan's body was discovered on a lonely mountain road, where he had been waylaid and shot down in cold blood. Both are in jail here awaiting a preliminary hearing.

Best Treatment for a Burn

If for no other reason, Chamberlain's Salve should be kept in every household on account of its great value in the treatment of burns. This salve is also unequalled for chapped hands, sore nipples and diseases of the skin. Price, 25 cents. For sale by all dealers.

"My son," remonstrated the fond parent, "why do you sleep so late in the morning? Remember, that the early bird gets the worm."

"Yes, but I'll bet he stays up all night to do it," replied the son.

NOW ON STRIKE

Millions of Stomachs Refuse to do Their Work Properly

All over this broad land millions of stomach owners are being held in humiliating subjection just because they are so stubborn that they will not accept a fair, square and broad minded offer.

Life is short for all of us; it will be shorter for those who let their stomachs go from bad to worse.

E. G. Murphey has a famous prescription called Mi-o-na and he believes so thoroughly in its remarkable curative power that he says to every owner of a distressed stomach that he will guarantee Mi-o-na tablets to cure acute or chronic indigestion and all stomach ailments or money back, and the price is only 50 cents a box.

And still there are stubborn people right in East Las Vegas who won't accept this offer, but continue to suffer from gas on stomach, belching of sour food, stomach pains, foul breath, dizziness, biliousness and headaches just because—just because—that's all, there is no other reason.

Mi-o-na tablets stop dyspeptic agony in five minutes; they cure obstinate cases of indigestion and turn the old stomach into a new one in a few weeks—or money back.

HYOMEI

(PRONOUNCED HIGH-O-ME)

The Las Vegas-Santa Rosa auto

mail, express and passenger line is now in operation. The auto makes the round trip between

Las Vegas and Santa Rosa three times a week, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

The auto leaves Murphey's drug store at 7 a. m., visits both postoffices and leaves Winters' drug store on the West side for Santa

Rosa. Tickets can be purchased at either Murphey's or Winters'

drug stores.

The round trip fare is $11; one way $6. Each passenger is allowed to carry not to exceed 25 pounds of baggage. Express packages are also handled and can be left at either of the drug stores

mentioned.

Gambling

your life against 25 cents is just exactly what you are doing if you neglect a cough or cold on the chest instead of treating it with Ballard's

Horehound Syrup. A 25 cent bottle of this splendid remedy will cure an ordinary cough, heal the lungs and act as a tonic for your entire system. Sold by Central Block Depot Drug Co.

Early marriages are best because young people can get used to it easier.

Many people delude themselves by saying "It will wear away," when they notice symptoms of kidney and blad-
